

Markit PMI™ – New Future Output Index

We are soon going to be adding new PMI series for all of our national Manufacturing, Whole Economy and Composite datasets covering Future Output data. These indices are equivalent to the Future Activity indices which we already release for our Services surveys. Like these, we ask our panellists whether they expect output to rise, fall, or remain the same over the next 12 months. The data are not seasonally adjusted. The data will be published for the first time with January 2017 data, so the first releases will be with the flash surveys on January 24th.

The historical data for these indices go back to either April 2012 or July 2012 for surveys that were being produced at that time.

Please find here a list of the indices and the relevant symbols.

If you have any questions please let us know.

Best regards,

Markit Economics

About PMI

Purchasing Managers' Index® (PMI®) surveys are now available for over 30 countries and also for key regions including the eurozone. They are the most closely-watched business surveys in the world, favoured by central banks, financial markets and business decision makers for their ability to provide up-to-date, accurate and often unique monthly indicators of economic trends.
